Gameplay Ideas

The idea of this document is to create ideas and either scrap them (which will be shown by using the strike out text) or to remove it from the text and implement it into the Gameplay Document.) Some ideas that will be merged into this document will also be prestriked because they will be ideas that were going to be implemented but then weren't. This is to keep track of ideas that were thought of but discontinued so that when trying to think of new ideas, old ideas can be cycled through.

~~When going down/up cliff sides in the cave, if you are roped in, you can press "space" to jump away from the cliff, and "s" to descend. If you press "m1" or "m2" while you have grabbed onto the cliff, you will release the left/right hand from where it's at. If you have not grabbed onto the cliff yet with the left/right hand, press "m1"/"m2" while hovering over a valid grappling point to grab at that point. While you have a valid arm length to move, you can press "w" to go up the cliff and "s" to go down the cliff. If you have released both hands and are not roped in, your character will fall. There will be a stamina meter that will slowly fall. While roped in, the stamina will regain as you rest and fall slower than if you weren't roped in.~~